Course Description:

This course examines the decision making process on both the individual and organizational levels. It examines how business decisions are made taking into account moral, legal, and economic factors. Topics include conflicts of interest, privacy issues, discrimination and affirmative action, sexual harassment, employment law, ethics in finance and accounting, Sarbanes-Oxley Act, corporate ethics and governance, and ethics in a global market.

Required Readings:

Beauchamp and Bowie, Ethical Theory and Business, Seventh Ed., Prentice Hall, 2004

Friedman, Milton, Capitalism and Freedom, University of Chicago Press, 2002

It is expected that you have done the readings before we discuss them. As you read, copy out important points and questions you have onto a separate sheet of paper. You may also want to note problem passages (e.g., with a "?" or "Q.") in your text as you read. These are good points for discussion in class where we can clarify and discuss them. You should come to each class able to discuss the main issues of the assignment, and you could be asked during class to present the main points of an article or reading.

Course Requirements and Grading:

Lectures are an integral part of the course; students are held responsible for the contents of the lectures as well as assigned readings in the textbook. Class assignments indicate the topic and chapter to be read prior to each class session.

Attendance:

Regular attendance is required except in cases of illness, emergency, or special circumstances. An absence may be excused and exams may be made up, or homework may be turned in late only if (1) the absence has been approved IN ADVANCE by the professor or (2) the absent student can document illness or emergency. Documents about absence must be brought to professor within one week of returning to class.

Two unexcused absences will be allowed without penalty. The penalty for more than two unexcused absences will be a reduction of one letter grade on your final grade for the course. Except in the case of sudden illness, or emergency, any excusable absence must be made known in advance. This will be the only warning about attendance, so note this well.

Participation: This course requires discussion and participation by all students. There will be ample opportunity for active participation, which I value, and the lack of which may negatively affect the students' final grade. Obviously your participation value is related to your class attendance.

Course grade will be determined by your performance on a mid term and a final exam. As stated above, the final grade may be subject to adjustment for excessive absences or lack of preparation in class.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is a form of stealing. It occurs when an author uses the words or ideas of others as if they were the author's own original thought. Plagiarism is often unintentional. It can be avoided by always acknowledging one's debt to others by citing the exact source of a quotation or paraphrase. Since plagiarism is such a serious violation of academic integrity, the penalty for it will be an automatic "F" for the course.

Cell Phones/pagers: You are to turn these devices off during class time. NOTE: if a cell phone or pager goes off during class, the offending student will receive a three point reduction per occurrence in their final grade average. You have been warned.

Actual exam dates will be announced in class when the dates are available.
