

Deloitte Info – Session

Sep 9th 2011

Cardinal Hall

The info session kicked off at 4:00 pm in the evening. All the students groomed in their business suits looked very keen for the session, especially the new students of Fall '11. This session was solely for MIS students of UIC.

We had four representatives from Deloitte, three working on AFT (Analytic and Forensic Technology) department and fourth one being from the HR department. Of the three representatives working on AFT, one of them was our very own UIC MIS alumni Krishna Thilak. The session started off with their introduction and then quickly without wasting any time the attention of all the students was shifted towards the presentation that they had prepared to share with everyone.

The AFT managers / consultants started off by telling about the company's profile, nature of work & branch offices. This information was very useful and descriptive. Then the session's main ingredient came into the picture – “AFT (Analytic and Forensic Technology)”.

Firstly, they explained what AFT deals with and how they go about it. It was really exciting to listen about the forensic information. Secondly, they took 2 case studies and explained how AFT analyzed them. While explaining about these case studies, they also shared their personal experience with few cases they worked on, which was really interesting to listen. They also took the opportunity to tell the students about their initial training session, which was a state of the art facility. Finally, the representative from HR department explained the pre-requisites / requirements to apply for the full – time job opening. There was a questionnaire session in the last, where the queries of the students were answered by the representatives.

The session ended on a nice note; there were some Deloitte diaries and chocolate cakes & cookies to grab.
