

Question: Does anyone have a TIA clinic? If so, would they be willing to benchmark with another TIA clinic in our region?

We are very interested in following the genesis of TIA clinics. We have heard there is one in Michigan and one in southern CA (San Diego I think), also a very successful one in Paris, France. We have not yet commenced specific research on these or others, however, would welcome the opportunity to work with other interested parties.

We are using our Emergency Observation Center for TIAs without deficits upon presentation to the ED. I don't have data yet to help though.

Dr. Hanson from MN at hansonsosk@parknicollet.com. They have a TIA clinic. Contact her for more information.

We currently do not have a TIA clinic, but are very interested in developing one. I will take any contact info you can give me. Thanks.
