

Foreign Language Faculty and Instructor Technology Series:

Using Wikis in Blackboard

Enhance your teaching by using wikis as a collaborative writing tool in your teaching. Wiki-tools are part of Blackboard and easy to set up.

This workshop will demonstrate how to create a wiki in Blackboard by providing you with step-by-step instructions for basic wiki setup, as well as provide advice on how to effectively implement a wiki in your class environment.

We will discuss various types of wikis and how to choose one that is relevant to your course's learning goals.

Wikis are useful for beginning and advanced language classes as well as culture and literature courses, for example:

- student research projects;
- collaborative writing tasks;
- vocabulary lists created by students.

No previous knowledge required. We will provide assistance for individual participants.
