Copyright:

The Special Collections and University Archives of the University of Illinois at Chicago Library is pleased to offer reproduction services for our collections. While we will attempt to accommodate the research and publication needs of our patrons, our reproduction service operates in compliance with U.S. Copyright Law and restricts reproductions when the condition of the original is deemed too fragile or the item is damaged.

The UIC University Library is the copyright holder for some of the collections in its holdings. However, some collections held by the UIC University Library are not in the public domain and may be copyrighted by individuals or organizations outside of the library. Determining the existence of copyright or any other legal restrictions, as well as obtaining permission from the copyright holder is solely the responsibility of the requester.

Copyright holders who are not appropriately identified are encouraged to contact the UIC Special Collections and University Archives so that we may provide more complete information in the future.
