College Committee on Faculty Awards
Annual Report 2009-2010

The College Committee on Faculty Awards is charged with ensuring that faculty excellence is reflected in competition for academic awards. The Committee accumulates and disseminates information about internal faculty awards, actively solicits nominations for such awards and, where appropriate, makes award nominations which are forwarded to the Dean.

The College Committee on Faculty Awards met two times this academic year.

In February, the Committee reviewed all College of Medicine nominations for the University Scholars Program and recommended Drs. Xioping Du (Pharmacology), Marc Atkins (Psychiatry), and Pradeep Dudeja (Medicine) to Dean Flaherty as the College's nominees for this year's awards cycle.

In March, the Committee selected Dr. Krishnamurthy Ramaswamy from the Department of Medicine as the Faculty of the Year Award recipient from nominations put forward by two of the four campuses of the College. The Faculty Awards Committee continued efforts to promote solicitations for this award by posting announcements on the College's Faculty Affairs website and asking department heads and the regional deans to distribute announcements to all faculty members in their unit/campus.

Respectfully Submitted,

Geula Gibori, Ph.D.
Chair, College Committee on Faculty Awards
