

The Latin American Recruitment and Educational Services (LARES) Summer Success Seminar prepares Latino students for the intensity of college-level work. The Seminar creates a positive and welcoming classroom and program environment for students through a mathematics (pre-calculus) review and a culturally focused and enriching writing and language-based six-week program. The summer seminar targets courses such as composition and mathematics for students needing additional assistance in these areas. To familiarize students with UIC's institutional structure and campus personnel, technical and academic resources are introduced throughout the summer seminar experience.
