

UIC College Diversity Profile 2008

Business Administration

The College of Business Administration will achieve its vision by conducting theory-driven research of the highest quality; by developing innovative educational programs that apply the frontiers of academic research to critical business problems; by fostering entrepreneurship in its students; and by engaging Chicago's business community in its teaching and research. The College of Business Administration also recognizes the significance of its urban location and will foster partnerships with the business community to develop the leadership potential of its students and to enhance the economic and social environments of Chicago and other "great cities."
