Application Review and Decision Notification

UIC uses a holistic approach during the application review process. The application evaluation includes a review of multiple factors, including, but not limited to, high school coursework and cumulative grade point average, grade trend, grades in required high school courses, course levels, such as, Honors, AP, IB, etc., class rank, ACT/SAT scores, and personal statement. Additional factors that may be considered are college readiness, writing proficiency, quantitative reasoning, critical thinking, and preparedness for the major. Admission is competitive, and selection depends on space availability and the overall applicant pool.

Freshman decision letters will be sent between November and March.

2009 Admitted Freshman Profile

The ACT and High School Percentile Rank (HSPR) ranges of the entering freshman class of 2009 show that admissions standards vary across colleges. Be sure your profile is appropriate for your selected major. Since a holistic approach is used in the admission review process, having an ACT and HSPR in the admitted freshman profile does not guarantee admission; however, please note these represent the middle 50% and are not minimum requirements.
