

The Jewish Studies Program of the University of Illinois at Chicago,
Together with the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago
Invites you to attend a public lecture on

Wednesday, March 5, at 7:00 PM

On the UIC Campus, Student Services Building (at Racine and Harrison) Conference Room A.

International Terrorism: Dynamics and Prevention

By
Professor Shlomo Shoham
Israel Studies Visiting Scholar, UIC
Professor Emeritus, Tel Aviv University

With an Introduction & Discussion by:
Professor Matthew R. Lippman
Department of Criminal Justice, UIC

Professor Shoham is a winner of the Israel Prize and a world-renowned scholar, widely published author on criminology, deviance, philosophy, religion, psychology, and the interdisciplinarity of the human personality. He lectures world-wide, and has recently been resident at the universities of Harvard, Oxford, and at the Sorbonne.

Professor Lippman is a leading expert on the Holocaust and genocide and an authority on international terrorism.

THIS IS A FREE EVENT. Please join us for conversation and light refreshments before the lecture (6:00 PM). (Parking available in the Pavilion Parking Facility)

Call the Jewish Studies Program at 312 413 2102 for more information.