REPRESENTATION

Because part of the mission of APAC is to appoint representatives to university and campus committees, APAC is usually the first place the broader campus looks to find Academic Professionals for that representation. In some cases, APAC is asked to send a member as a representative on a committee. In other cases, such as the Search Committee for the new University President, APAC fosters campus-wide nominations and elections. Over the 2009-2010 year, the following were elected to serve as our UIC AP representatives.

COMMUNICATIONS

APAC News is distributed to nearly 4,000 employees via the AP PACADEMY email list and is linked from our APAC website [www.apac.uic.edu]. This year, our monthly newsletter grew from focusing on informing UIC Academic Professionals of APAC activities to highlighting news related to and raising issues of concern to APs in these changing political and economic times. Special focus columns and hired journalists added to the stature of our publication. In March, Rob Moranetz, our webmaster, introduced the first online issue of APAC News. Back issues of the newsletter are available in PDF format under the Documents section of APAC's website.

APAC also sends Welcome Packages to all new Academic Professionals, invites visitors to our monthly meetings (second Thursday of the month - information is on the website), and announces upcoming events via the website, PACADEMY, the Campus Calendar and UIC MassMail. If you are not receiving PACADEMY email announcements, information on signing up is at: <http://www.uic.edu/orgs/apac/join.html>
