Continuing Education Information

Target Audience

Pharmacists

Objectives

After attending these sessions, each participant should be able to:

Illinois Pharmacy Law-Update:

- Differentiate between the requirements of the Illinois Pharmacy Practice Act and the recently passed and current act;
- Describe the implications of the recent changes on current and future pharmacy practice;
- Analyze other pharmacy and healthcare-related legislation pending in the Illinois General Assembly and translate each bill's potential effect on pharmacy practice; and
- State recent case law findings related to pharmacy practice.

Prophylaxis and Treatment with Low Molecular Weight Heparins (LMWH) in Deep Vein Thrombosis (DVT) and Acute Coronary Syndrome (ACS): Dosing in special populations:

- Compare and contrast available LMWHs;
- Evaluate the use of LMWHs for prophylaxis of deep vein thrombosis;
- Describe the role of appropriate dosing of LMWHs in the management of patients with DVT and ACS; and
- Recommend LMWH dosing for various patient scenarios.

Update on the Treatment of Epilepsy:

- Describe the difference between partial and generalized seizure disorder;
- Explain the difference between the new formulations of AEDs;
- List the most common acute and chronic adverse effects reported with AEDs; and
- Recommend specific solutions to barriers for medication adherence.

Continuing Education

The University of Illinois at Chicago College of Pharmacy is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education as a provider of continuing pharmacy education. Attendance at the entire program, completion of the self-assessment questions and program evaluation are pre-requisites for receiving continuing education credit. A statement of credit verifying participation in 0.1 CEUs (1 contact hour) for each session attended will be sent to participants within 6 weeks of the program. These programs have been assigned ACPE Universal Activity Numbers 016-000-09-029-L03-P, 016-000-09-030-L01-P and 016-000-09-031-L01-P.

There are no fees to attend this program.

This program is supported by educational grants from Lundbeck, Aventis and UCB
