

SPH CONCENTRATIONS

<http://www.uic.edu/sph>

SPH offers many curricular options for students to pursue, from behavioral sciences and health promotion, to cancer epidemiology. At SPH students are exposed to multidisciplinary programs taught by faculty from a variety of disciplines, including sociology, psychology, statistics, medicine, data management, health care administration, environmental chemistry, organizational behavior, economics, law, and policy analysis. Below is a list of official concentrations at SPH. Additionally, students have the option to develop an individualized program of study within certain divisions.

Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences

- Industrial Hygiene: MPH, MS

Community Health Sciences: MPH, MS, PhD

- Maternal and Child Health: MPH, PhD
- Maternal and Child Health Epidemiology: MPH, PhD

Epidemiology: MPH, MS, PhD

- Cancer Epidemiology: MS, PhD

Biostatistics: MPH, MS, PhD

- Quantitative Methods: MPH

Health Policy and Administration: MPH, MS, PhD

- Public Health Informatics: MPH (fully online)
- Clinical Research Concentration: MS

Interdepartmental Graduate Concentrations

- Survey Research Methodology: MPH, PhD
- Interdepartmental Graduate Concentration in Women's Health: MPH, MS, PhD
- Graduate Concentration in Women's Studies: MPH, PhD